

Aupair looking for a host family in Luxembourg

[ ] Childcare

Hello! I'm Amanda a highly motivated, energetic, and out going person with strenght in Communication visual, Fashion, Social media, and Design. Having excellent Interpersonal skills in a variety of working environments, and public services. A young professional who is interested in working in fields related to children, design, communication, and culture. Being an Aupair is a balance between personal relationships and professional relationships, because we are part of the family, living together on one roof and walking intensely every day, while working and getting paid. It is a good decision to have life lessons that I never got from school, so I want to be able to feel firsthand how life, culture and habits with new children and families. This experience can also provide great lessons for my future work and to continue my Master studies in the future. I am avaiable and ready to become Aupair in September-October 2019.
