

Mathematics, science and Physics teacher

[] Job offers

I am a Mathematics, science and Physics teacher looking for a tutor job after school or homeschooling. I see students as the next generations' heroes in so many fields. In my vision, I have to inspire students and prepare them with confidence, knowledge, experience and skills. Which means I encourage, communicate, guide, teach, and assess students in order to enrich their infrastructures. I am charismatic professional with the ability to foster interest and passion in math by using integrated and interactive lesson plans. Proven ability to understand various learning styles and create lesson plans to meet unique. I welcome opportunities to tutor students in Mathematics, science and/or physics.
