Volunteer for a mission in health and medicine.

[] Job offers

During a public health volunteer mission, you intervene by coming to meet people in villages, or institutions such as schools and reception centers to encourage initiatives around health and well-being. You help local doctors in consultations to: blood tests: blood pressure, sugar levels, etc. Measurements of the Body Mass Index (BMI) detections of various chronic or contagious diseases Malaria detection treatment and dressing of wounds education and information on general health issues in the form of workshops Medical courses useful to local communities These visits make it possible to detect possible diseases more quickly and thus improve the general health of the communities. Regular information campaigns ensure a better understanding of health risks by women and children, the main audiences for these programs.

Link

https://homehelp.lu/volunteer-for-a-mission-in-health-and-medicine,o582

Contact

E-mail: sabinebaer02@outlook.fr
Telephone:

Localisation

, Luxembourg City, luxembourg Ville
-

Ad posted: 2018-04-16 19:28:43